Their first child, a daughter, was born April 9, 1852 and they named her Francis Eva. It was not uncommon at that time to name a baby after a deceased spouse.

More children followed and in 1854 on Dec. 25, Estella was born. Jenny was born in 1856, Emily Gooding Oct 25, 1858, and finally a son, Frank Albane Jan 11, 1861. One more daughter was born while they lived in Illinois, Laura Alice Aug. 28, 1863.

Alonzo might have served in the Civil War June & July 1863 or more likely only had to sign up.

They moved from Ottawa, Illinois to Iowa and Mattie Ida BAILEY was born near what became Sheffield, Iowa on May 30, 1866. Alonzo farmed there for a few years before moving into Hampton, Iowa where Theodore G. was born April 2, 1869.

Their last child, George A. was born July 3, 1873 but Esther died Aug 1, 1873 leaving Alonzo a widower again. This time he had 7 children, the oldest, Francis was 21 but she died December 11. Esther is buried in the Hampton Cemetery beside Alonzo and Mattie. I think Francis would be buried there, too.

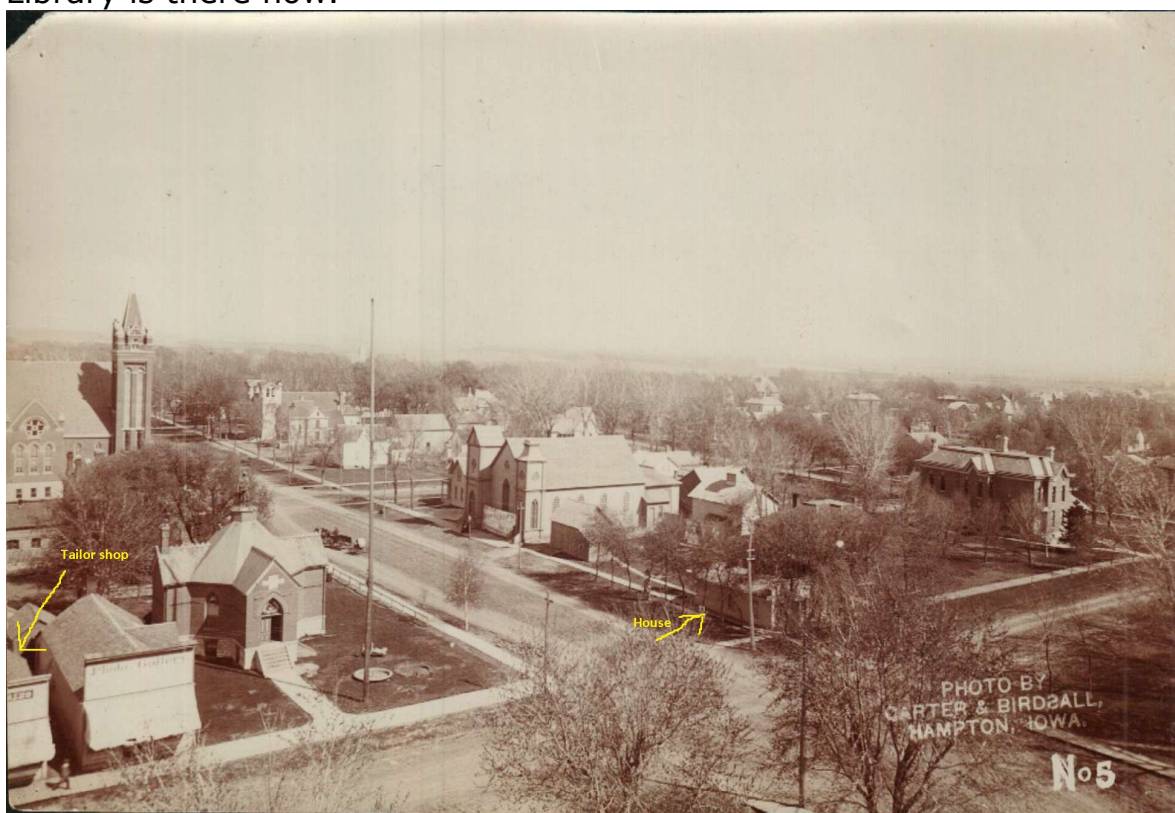

Alonzo located at Hampton in 1872. In 1883 he was the only one in trade at Hampton. He had a tailor shop on Federal Street.

Alonzo's tailor shop was 2nd from the right; the white building with two men leaning on it. The telephone office is next right. Chinese laundry and theater at the end of the block, north. This coat is at the Historical Society in Hampton, Iowa. There is also a vest there.

He lived one block south in the house on the corner. The Carnegie Library is there now.

Alonzo married again on July 17, 1878 to Sylvia Jane Curtis in Clinton, Mass. He was 54, she was 47. In discussion with an historian there, we have surmised Alonzo knew her because of his business of tailoring and probably buying materials in Mass. There were woolen mills there. That marriage was very short, lasting about 2 years. Sylvia was still living in Hampton in 1880, boarding with a tailoress, Emily Howe and her son.

Since there is no surviving 1890 census I don't know how long she stayed there. She was back in Mass. by 1900.

It's interesting that she never remarried.

Sylvina died March 17, 1910 in Stowe, Mass. and is buried there.

I suspect this was written by Sylvina because she is the last one listed. I have two other pages from this book listing births and deaths in Alonzo's family. They were found at the old dump in Hampton before it closed and became a recycling spot for garden waste.

Also on this page John and Sara Bailey. This is Jack Bailey's ("Queen for a Day") father and his first wife. Jack was the child of John and his 2nd wife Bertha Belle Brown. Jack was b. 1907 in Hampton. There's a relationship among the Baileys but I can't put my finger on it. I surmise that John's grandfather and Alonzo's grandfather were brothers.

Alonzo died July 18, 1903 in Hampton.
He was 79 years old.

Death of A.M. Bailey

Alonzo Moody Bailey was born at Willmington, Essex county, New York, December 31, 1823 and died at Hampton, Iowa July, 17, 1903. In 1831 he moved with his parents to Madison county, Ohio, and at the age of fifteen he was apprenticed to the tailors trade having been rendered lame through life due to an injury sustained in his infancy. In 1845 he again removed to Ottawa, Illinois, where he was married to Francis L. Grow, who only lived a year after marriage, their only child dying in early infancy. He was married to Esther Prescott, September 4, 1851 and to them were born nine children, three sons and six daughters. The sons are Frank A., of Hampton, Theodore G. and George A. of Austin, Minnesota. The daughters are Eve, who died in 1870, and Mrs. Thos. Foughty, Mrs. C. H. Harrett and Mrs. C. L. Emmons of Hampton, Mrs. H.C. Deal, of Gillett, Arkansas, and Mrs. Alice Cunningham of McCook Nebraska. All were present at the funeral service but the last two named.

Mrs. Bailey died in 1873 and in July of 1881 he was again married to Elizabeth Knight, who survives him. Mr. Bailey came from Ottawa in 1865 and settled for six years on a farm near Sheffield (Iowa) then moved to Hampton (Iowa) and engaged in the tailoring business. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church last Monday, conducted by Rev. W.W. Patengill. Besides the relatives already mentioned, there were present from out of town, Mrs. London, a sister of Mrs. Bailey's, her son, Chas, London, of Clarksville and Mrs. Bailey's brother, Henry, also of Clarksville.

Hampton Chronicle July 23, 1903

Death of A.M. Bailey

After a lingering illness, the last six months being a time of entire helplessness, A.M. Bailey died at his residence in Hampton at a late hour Friday evening, July 17th.

Alonzo Moody Bailey was born at Willmington, Essex county, New York, Dec. 31, 1823, so that if he could have lived his year out he would have been 80 years old. In 1831 his parents removed to Madison county, Ohio, and when he was about fifteen years of age, he was apprenticed to the tailor's trade, he having been injured when about five years old so as to render him lame through life. In the spring of 1845 he removed to Ottawa, Ill. And was married there to Frances L. Grow, who only lived a year after marriage, their only child dying in early infancy.

Sept. 4, 1851 he was married to Esther Prescott and to them were born nine children, three sons and six daughters. The sons are Frank A. of Hampton, and Theodore G. and George A. of Austin, Minn. The daughters are Eva, who died in 1870, and Mrs. Stella Foughty, Mrs. Jennie Barrett and Mrs. Mattie Emmons, all of Hampton, Mrs. H. C. Deal of Gillett, Ark and Mrs. Alice Cunningham of McCook, Neb. All but the last two named were present at the funeral services.

Mrs. Bailey died in 1878, and in July, 1881, he was again married to Elizabeth Knight, who survives him. In 1865 Mr. Bailey and family came from Ottawa to a farm near where Sheffield is now, but after five or six years trial he was compelled to give it up on account of his crippled condition and he came to Hampton where he has since resided up to the time of his death. Until recent years he carried on the tailoring business and with fair success accumulating some property and a good home. His reputation was that of an honest and well meaning man, and he left no enemies behind him. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Hampton, of which organization he was a member, on Monday last, conducted by the pastor, Rev. W.W. Pattergill. Besides the relatives already mentioned, there were present from out of town, Mrs. London, a sister of Mrs. Bailey, from Clarksville, her son, Chas. London of Clarksville, and Mrs. Bailey's brother, Henry Knight, also of Clarksville.

Franklin County Recorder July 22, 1903

The funeral was held at the First Baptist Church in Hampton, Rev. W.W. Pattergill officiating. All these records are lost since the church no longer exists.

Alonzo's will follows.

Will Rec 1 page 108

In the name of God, Amen: I, Alonzo Moody Bailey, of the City of Hampton, in the County of Franklin, in the State of Iowa, now of the age of seventy eight years, and being now of sound mind and memory, and being mindful of the uncertainty of life, and having some property, which in case of my death, at the death thereof I now desire to dispose of, do make by these, my last Will and Testament, in manner following, that is to say:

First: I hereby revoke and set aside all my wills heretofore made.

Fourth: I desire at my death, and also the death of my beloved wife, Elizabeth Bailey, as above contemplated, and mentioned, that the balance and residue of my property, as left by my wife, (if she shall survive me) and after her death shall be divided as follows:

Bailey the sum of Five Dollars, and to my son, Frank A. Bailey, the sum of One Dollar, it being known that that the last named son Frank A. Bailey has already received his share of my estate. That all the balance and residue of my estate left after the death of my said wife, and the payment of the different sums as above set forth, to my children therein named, I give and bequeath to my daughters now named, Stella C. Foughty, once Bailey, Jennie L. Banet, once Bailey, and Mattie J. Walker, once Bailey, and my son Theodore H. Bailey, all the balance and residue of my property, both personal, real and mixed, for them to have and hold forever, for them to share equally and alike.

Fifth: I hereby appoint my wife Elizabeth Bailey executor of this my last Will and Testament, and request that she be appointed by the Court having this Will to probate, without being required to give bond.

Fifth: If at the death of my said wife, any of my children, "to wit": Stella P. Frazier, Jennie L. Barst, Mattie D. Walker or Theodore L. Bailey, shall be dead then their share shall be equally divided among my then living children.

In testimony whereof, I have signed this as my last Will, this 13th day of January A.D. 1902
